Hudson, Wis., July 12, 1886.

Mr. Cleveland is in the woods. So is the democratic party of Wisconsin.

The democrats of Wisconsin are sadly in need of an issue and a leader. They are destitute of either.

The most earnest desire of the democratic party is that during the congressional recess the president may become a thorough Jacksonian.

The prince of Wales has refused to accept a testimonial of gold plate at $12,500, from the commission of the colonial exhibition. This is the first time the prince of Wales ever declined a present

A tune at which the democratic party, north and south, can join in singing most heartily with Senator Vest, of Missouri: "In my opinion the government should be administered by the friends of the party in power. I would as soon think of selecting my pickets from an opposing army as selecting a lot of radicals to carry the democratic doctrine."

Certain ones in Milwaukee take great interest in the forthcoming republican state convention, judging from what the Milwaukee Sentinel says: "If the republican papers in the interior do not stop informing the Milwaukee republican that they are entitled to a representative on the state ticket the candidates here will need a special train to take them to Madison."

Just why prohibition should have been expected to probibit in Rhode Island when it has failed to prohibit anywhere else is a mystery, but the experiment has been tried, with the usual result. After the prohibition craze has passed away, perhaps Rhode Island will come to its sober senses, resolve not to become intoxicated with theories or liquor either, and become a strict high-license state.

The occasion of Queen Victoria's well known dislike for Gladstone is thus related by St. Stephen's Gazette: When, after the Irish Church disestablishment bill had passed parliament, the queen hesitated to sign the measure, Gladstone said, "But, madam, you must sign." "Sir, do you know who I am?" indignantly queried her majesty. "Yes, madam," Gladstone responded, "the queen of England. But does your majesty know who I am? I am the people of England."

Says the Milwaukee Sentinel: "Now the democratic papers are accusing the patent medicine doctor at La Crosse of having gone over to the republican party because he favors the nomination of a separate workingman's ticket." That is what the Gazette said a few days ago, and because White Beaver and his followers wouldn't boom the democracy, democratic papers got mad, and then charged that there was a Powell-Rusk combination. This was done to cover up their own track.

The Appleton Crescent having stated that Governor Rusk was not the real commander in the suppression of the Milwaukee riots, Col. Charles King, U. S. A., instructor of the state troops, comes out in the following spirited and unselfish defense of the chief executive:

Any man who attempts to say that Governor Rusk is not entitled to the highest credit for the suppression of the riots last May is blind as a bat. It was true, of course, that it was Chapman's business to see that the guard was properly organized and prepared and mine to see that it was drilled and disciplined. Whatever Chapman does is bound to be thorough and his work was thorough; and, as for myself, I did the best I knew how, but the governor supervised everything. He knows to a dollar every item expended for the guard; he watches every detail and scans every order. He knows intimately the character and capacity of pretty much every officer in the state, and no matter how fine a guard we might have—no matter if it had been, as was asserted, that Chapman and I were the men who got everything ready—the guard would have been powerless without an executive who had nerve and brains enough to do his full duty. The beauty of the whole business was the way the old man took hold and smashed things the moment the mayor and sheriff came to the reluctant conclusion that they must call for aid. I heard his every order. I've been on duty at many a riot before this with regulars at my back and generals to handle the command, and never did I hear anything more solid, clean-cut and straight from the shoulder than Rusk's orders and instructions. I never had a better commander, and every officer and man knew from the word "go" just what he had to do. No, sir! Any one who says that there's a man in the state or out of it who can hold a candle to Governor Rusk as a squelcher of anarchy in this blessed year of our Lord, simply talks trash.

CHANGING THEIR TUNE.

It seems that some of the democratic leaders are getting alarmed over the cry which they started early in the summer, "anything to beat Rusk," on account of the part he took in suppressing the Milwaukee riots. They find that they are driving thousands of democrats from their party to the support of Rusk. A dispatch from Madison to the Milwaukee Sentinel says a leading knight of labor was recently in Madison and stated that it had been agreed that the criticism of the governor's course was to be discontinued, and the third-term howl started in its stead. He said that the third-term is to be brought prominently forward, and with it they propose to force the riots out of the campaign. He also said that the condemnation of the governor by the Schilling crowd on account of the riots, was driving thousands of democrats to Rusk's support, and that the knights were asked by the democratic managers to abandon this sort of talk. This, he said, was the cause of Schilling's silence, and it is further accounted for by the remark of a democrat of Madison who said knowingly that nothing more would be heard from Schilling to hurt their cause. But this won't save the democrats from defeat. They have gone too far with their abuse of Governor Rusk; and beside that the people propose to re-elect the governor any way. The democrats can't change the decree that has already gone forth.

THE CONGRESSIONAL QUESTION.

Expressions of sentiment from various parts of the county on the congressional question seem to indicate that Mr Caswell will get a solid delegation from Rock. Two week ago or more, the matter was considerably in doubt, but as the time for the convention approaches, the people have set about canvassing the question, and the prevailing opinion in the county appears to be that under all the circumstances it is best to return Mr. Caswell. It is presumed, as a matter of course, that Jefferson will send a solid delegation for him, which, if the three other counties will vote for Weeks and Cooper, will give Mr. Caswell nineteen votes to twenty to be divided between the two other candidates.

It will be seen from this that Walworth Racine and Kenosha, if they stand united, can control the congressional question. But whether they will improve the opportunity, is a matter of some doubt. Mr. Weeks wants the nomination. His heart has been set upon a congressional seat for some time; and Mr. Cooper, who represents the young republican blood of Racine, is also anxious for the nomination. Now if these two gentlemen can pool their issues and unite and control their delegates, and go into the convention with the purpose, "anything to beat Caswell," they can defeat him and nominate one or the other of themselves. But the Gazette assumes that no such a spirit will possess either Mr. Weeks or Mr. Cooper, and that the delegates can not be delivered at any price to do anything that is not just and honorable.

It is no wonder that Walworth and the lake shore counties have a deep feeling on the congressional question. If geographical claims are worth anything or are worth considering, those counties certainly make the demand for the congressional candidate with more than ordinary good grace. From this point of view they should have the candidate. All things being equal they are entitled to the honor without a contest, and in this case Rock county would not be slack in doing its duty toward Walworth, Racine and Kenosha, that have many times unselfishly supported its candidate. But without casting any reflection whatever on the candidates from Walworth and Racine, or in any wise doing them the least injustice, the people in the western part of the district throw all question of locality aside, and simply consider that more important question, What is best for the whole district? Everyone will admit that a man who had years of experience in congress, and who had been profited by such experience, is better qualified to represent a district than one who lacks such experience; and at a time like this when the republican party in congress should command its best ability and its ripest experience, this argument has considerable force. To be sure, the people in the eastern part of the district will see no logic or special significance in this position, and herein lies the cause of disagreement between the two sections of the district.

The position of Rock county, judging from expressions of sentiment heard in nearly all directions, is to nominate a man who by experience and ability can best serve the district. The question whether he comes from Jefferson, Walworth, Racine or Kenosha, is not considered. They want the best man for the place, come from wherever he may, so that in the desperate struggle in the house between the parties, the First district shall have a representative who shall take rank among the solid men of the party. This is the reason why so many republicans in Rock county are coming to the support of Mr. Caswell.

DEMOCRATIC FIELD DAY.

CONVENTIONS IN FOUR STATES GETTING READY FOR THE FIGHT.

Ohio and Pennsylvania Put Up Their Tickets—Fusion Adopted in Michigan and Leaders Selected—Missouri Goes in for an All-Night Session—What the Platforms Declare for.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. the Democratic state convention assembled in Memorial hall with a full attendance of delegates. No preliminary organization was made, the permanent officers being: H. B. Finley, of Bucyrus, chairman, and C. M. Layton, of Auglaize, secretary. Mr. Finley's speech congratulated the convention on the results of the election of 1884 and vigorously arraigned the last legislature for its acts, dwelling with particular emphasis upon the ousting of the Cincinnati Democratic senators. He declared that the supreme court had prostituted its powers to partisan purposes and reviewed state affairs at length. He was loudly applauded upon conclusion.

The usual preliminary work was rapidly executed and John McSweeney, of Wooster, read the platform, which congratulates the country upon the return of Democracy to power in the national adminiation; indorses Cleveland's administration for its courage and honesty; reaffirms the position of the last state and national platforms on the subject of national revenue and declares taxes should not be collected beyond the sum necessary for an economical administration of the government; demands a thorough revision of the tariff laws; approves the policy indicated in Morrison's surplus resolution and declares that every dollar of unnecessary taxation is robbery, that a surplus in the treasury is an incentive to corruption and an oppression of the people; denounces any attempt to establish a gold standard, and demands that silver and gold shall be maintained as the basis of our money system; denounces "the usurpations of the Republican lieutenant governor and less than a quorum of Republican senators of the state senate as an act of revolution and a grave crime against the constitution of Ohio, and a precedent too dangerous to permit to pass uncondemned by the people of the state;" demands an honest ballot honestly counted, and the punishment of every crime against the purity of the ballot; declares in favor of "a well regulated license system" as the best means of providing against the evils of the liquor traffic, and favors a constitutional amendment "that will permit a judicious regulation of the traffic and repress the abuses growing out of it without destroying the principles of personal liberty or the right of private judgment;" favors the principle of arbitration to settle disputes between labor and capital; approves the forfeiture of railway lands by congress, the prohibition of alien ownership of United States lands, and the action of the United States senate in the Payne case. Sympathy for the cause of Ireland is expressed, and a tribute is paid to the memory of Samuel J. Tilden, Durbin Ward, Thomas A. Hendricks, and other Democratic leaders who have died since the last state convention.

The platform was unanimously adopted. Henry Apthorp, of Ashtabula; William Bell, of Licking; B. G. Young, of Marion, and John McBride, of Stark, were named for secretary of state. Two ballots were taken, the first ballot giving Young, 229½; Bell, 156½; Apthorp, 61, and McBride, 319½.

McBride secured the nomination on the second ballot by acclamation.

Mr. McBride then was called to the platform and returned his thanks to the convention for the honor.

On motion, Hon. M. D. Follett was renominated for judge of the supreme court, and J. W. Cruikshank, of Miami county, was renominated for clerk of the supreme court. In a similar manner L. D. Brown was renominated for commissioner of common schools by acclamation. The ticket was completed by the nomination of Edward Neelus, of Hamilton county, for member of the board of public works.

A vote of thanks for the reception received at the hands of the people of Toledo was adopted, and also a resolution of condolence and regret over the death of John G. Thompson. The convention then adjourned sine die.

KEYSTONE DEMOCRACY.

Black Gets the Nomination for Governor—The Resolutions.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug 19.—By 9 a. m. Wednesday the Grand opera house was nearly full of delegates and spectators of the Democratic state convention, which was called to order by Chairman Hensel. After the preliminary work was done, the temporary organization was effected by the selection of M. C. Herman, of Cumberland county, as chairman, and the announcement of the usual committees having been made, the convention took recess until 3 p. m., at which hour, upon reassembling, ex-Congressman M. T. Elliott was selected as permanent chairman and made a strong and eloquent speech.

After some discussion, the report of the credentials committee was read, and was followed by the platform committee's report, which reaffirms the Chicago platform of 1884, and indorses the administration of President Cleveland, which is declared to have given confidence to business, purged the departments of corruption, checked extravagance and monopolistic and class legislation and elevated the civil service; favors "a just revision of the tariff laws in accordance with the letter and spirit" of the Chicago declaration of 1884, and so that American labor can successfully compete with foreign labor, the rates of duty to be ample to cover the difference between the cost of production in this country and Europe, which is the result of the higher wages paid here; indorses the administration of Governor Patterson; sympathizes with labor's efforts to improve its condition, and asks the enlargement of the bureau of statistics, the abrogation of all laws bearing unequally upon labor, the abolition of convict labor in competition with free labor, indemnification of workmen for injuries received in the performance of their work, the extension and enforcement of the principle of arbitration, the incorporation of labor organizations, an apprentice law, prohibition of employment of children under 14 in workshops and factories, execution of the laws regarding "pluck-me" stores and store orders, exclusion of pauper and assisted emigration, and appointment of inspectors to look to the enforcement of laws made for the benefit of laborers; advocates the amendment of the tax laws so that personal property shall bear a just share of the burdens, and relieve farm property, and finally laments the death of Samuel J. Tilden, Thomas A. Hendricks, and Gens. McClellan and Hancock.

The platform was adopted unanimously and nominations for governor were declared in order. For this office Col. Henry McCormick, of Harrisburg; Gen. P. N. Guthrie, of Allegheny; Hon. William A. Wallace, of Clearfield; Lieutenant Governor C. F. Black, of York, and Col. Robert Fechert, of Philadelphia, were named. On the first ballot Black got 193 and Wallace 129 votes, when a stampede took place to Black and he was nominated by acclamation.

Before proceeding to ballot for lieutenant governor a recess was taken to 8 p. m., at which time Col. R. B. Ricketts, of Luzerne, was nominated before the ballots could be announced, a motion being carried to make the nomination unanimous.

Maxwell Stevenson, of Philadelphia, was nominated for congressman-at-large; J. S. Africa, of Huntingdon, for secretary of state—both by acclamation. Gen. W. J. Brennan was nominated for auditor general on the first ballot, and the convention adjourned sine die.

POOLED THEIR ISSUES.

Michigan Democrats and Greenbackers "Jine Drives" on a Ticket.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 19.—The Greenback and Democratic conventions met here Wednesday, the object being to select a fusion state ticket. The Democrats met in Redmond's Opera house and the Greenbackers in Power's Opera house. The speeches in both conventions denounced monopoly and advocated the rights of wage-workers. Chairman Enright, in his speech in the Democratic convention, spoke of "Piebald Blaine" and "Millionaire Gould" and the "aristocrats of the Michigan club." William L. Bancroft was made permanent chairman and a committee appointed to confer with the Greenbackers, a recess being then taken.

In the Greenback convention a platform was adopted approving strict construction of the constitution, and demanding the creation of money—gold, silver and paper—by the government, of volume sufficient for the wants of trade, the government to control the same. Gen. Innes was presented to the convention as permanent chairman and said he did his best to help free 3,000,000 slaves and was now "in for the war" until 50,000,000 more were free. A committee on resolutions was appointed.

The conference committee of the Democratic and Greenback state conventions agreed upon the following division of offices: Greenbackers—Governor, treasurer, commissioner, state land office, and superintendent of public instruction. Democrats—Lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor general, attorney general, and member of state board of education.

The conventions promptly adopted the report of the committees, and the following ticket was nominated: Governor, Ex-Congressman George L. Yaple, of Mendon; lieutenant governor, S. S. Curry, of Ishpeming; secretary of state, P. R. Wachtel, of Petosky; treasurer, W. G. Bard, of Bay City; auditor general, J. S. Farrar, of Macomb; attorney general, J. C. Donnelly, of Detroit.

The platform adopted by the Democrats deplores the deaths of Seymour, McClellan, Hancock, Hendricks and Tilden; indorses the administration of Cleveland, especially as discouraging office-seeking through political intrigues; says liberal pensions should be granted to disabled soldiers, not as a charity, but as a debt; asserts that taxation for other purposes than revenue is robbery; recognizes the right of wage workers to the fostering care of the government, opposes convict labor and ownership of real estate by non-resident corporations; favors the coinage of silver, and indorses the applying of the surplus in the treasury to the payment of the national debt.

BEST, PHELPS AND DOCKERY.

They Talk to Missouri Democrats—An All-Night Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 19.—Ex-Governor Phelps was temporary chairman of the Democratic state convention, which met here in Exposition hall Wednesday. He said on taking the chair that he regretted that congress had failed to relieve the people of taxation. Senator Vest addressed the delegates, eulogizing the Democracy as the foe of centralization, and charging the failure of congress to reform the tariff laws upon "so-called" Democrats of the east. He declared that the president pocketed the surplus resolution because the senate had changed and perverted it.

The usual committees were then appointed and recess was taken until 5 p. m. Although the convention reassembled at the appointed time the credentials and organization committees did not report until 11 p. m. Hon. A. M Dockery was made permanent chairman. In his address he congratulated himself that within the congressional district of Missouri which he had the honor to represent, not a single Republican remained in office [cheers], and in a short time, he believed, that our good and honest president will place the offices in the hands of Democrats.

Up to 1 a. m. Thursday the placing of candidates in nomination for judge of the supreme court was proceeding, and the intention seemed to be to get through before adjournment.

THE FATE OF A THIEF.

Gray, the Boston Scoundrel, Kills Himself—One of His Victims Fails.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The body of William Gray, Jr., the defaulting treasurer of the Indian Orchard and Atlantic Cotton mills, was found Wednesday morning on Blue hill, Canton. There was a bullet hole through the heart, and as the dead man still grasped a revolver, there is little, if any, doubt that he committed suicide. Mr. Gray's horse, hitched to a buggy, was a short distance from where the body lay. The animal was tied to a tree and appeared to be very hungry, and this circumstance, taken in connection with the fact that the buggy was water-soaked, leads to the belief that the horse had been standing there for twenty-four hours. Mr. Gray's embezzlement is still believed to be about $500,000.

Samuel R. Payson, a prominent commission merchant and proprietor of the Atlantic and Indian Orchard Mills stock, and also president of the City bank, failed Wednesday, owing to his having endorsed paper for the defaulter Gray.

A Jealous Woman's Crime.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Aug. 19.—Wednesday evening Mrs. V. P. Kirk, who has not been living with her husband for some time, thought she saw him with another woman, and, becoming insanely jealous, bought a bottle of carbolic acid and attempted to empty it in his eyes. During the struggle part went in his eyes, part on her hands, and part over their son John. Mr. Kirk will lose one eye and Mrs. Kirk and her son are very seriously burned about the face and arms.

A New Danger for Citizens.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 19.—Patrick H. McCarron, 25 years old, a barber, Wednesday afternoon cut the throat of James Crosby while shaving him. Crosby ran into the street and died on the sidewalk. McCarron had been subject to fits and he committed the act while deranged. He was arrested.

Senator Harrison Speaks to the Soldiers.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 19.—Senator Ben Harrison addressed 4,000 people in this city Wednesday, nearly all of whom were members of the Grand Army of the Republic. The speech was a soldier's speech throughout, and was enthusiastically applauded.

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head.

If indigestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear. These disorders react upon the brain most hurtfully, and produce a cloudiness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily these brain-oppressing maladies may be entirely dispelled by that peerless alternative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulates the organs of digestion, assimilation and bilious secretion. It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exerts a powerful invigorating influence as well. Its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep promoter, the Bitters is unrivaled; it mitigates the infirmities of age, relieves the ailments peculiar to the gentler sex, arrests premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique.

Lightning in the Rocky Mountains.

The curious case of G. S. Edwards, who was struck by lightning while crossing Iron hill, at Leadville, Colo., on July 4, is attracting considerable interest among scientific men. After the flash, Mr. Edwards remained unconscious for fifteen minutes before receiving assistance. The lightning struck him on the left cheek, and after knocking out a number of his teeth passed diagonally across the breast to the right side. It then descended the body to the foot, emerging from the right boot. It passed entirely through the foot, leaving a hole similar to that made by a bullet. The clothing was torn into fragments, particles being found a distance of 200 feet. Both of the boots were entirely destroyed, and one of them carried sixty feet away.

The ground where the man was standing was torn up for a considerable distance. The course of the electric current along the body was marked by a black and red streak one and a half inches wide. The worst effect of the streak seems to have been on the lungs. A severe hemorrhage was produced, by which a quart of blood was lost. In addition to these injuries, the surface of the body was almost covered with blisters, the result of ugly burns. This, we believe, is the first authentic record of a person being injured by lightning at an elevation of 10,500 feet. It is remarkable such severe internal injuries were not followed by death.—Scientific American.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Vis, Vita Propria. What is it? Scientists, Doctors, Lawyers and Ministers stand awe stricken and dumb-founded at the miraculous healing power possessed by Dr. Miner, whose portrait appears above.

was born in Allen, Allegany Co., N. Y., in 1832, of English and Scotch parentage. Longevity is marked on all his ancestry. With nerves as sensitive as the magnetic needle and muscles as strong as steel, with a well balanced frame to support them, it is apparent that he is a proper subject to possess this magnetic power in excess of other men. It is charged against us that we get this wonderful power from an electric battery worn upon our body and arms. This is false. We receive this power from our creator. You ask, what is it? We answer we don't know any more what it is than you do. We are daily healing the sick. All functional disturbances are controlled like magic by the laying on of hands, no medicines. The lame throw away their crutches and walk; life's current again courses through the palsied and withered limbs; the bloom of health flushes the pallid cheeks that death marked as its own, by the magicial touch of a man's hand.

Since the Savior of man healed the multitude nothing has equaled the wonderful and miraculous healing of this phenomenal man. He does not require weeks or months to prove to the afflicted that they will be benefitted, results are manifested at once We care nothing for the cause of your ailment. We treat conditions only and all functional abnormal conditions are controlled and permanently cured without medicines. Dr. Miner has leased Mrs. S. H. Shelton's residence for the summer where he can be consulted from 9 to 12 m, and 1 to 5 and 7 to 8 p. m. Will make calls outside of office hours: toct1

FOR IRELAND'S CAUSE.

ASSEMBLY OF THE IRISH LEAGUE CONVENTION IN CHICAGO.

Anti-Egan Men Put in Some Vigorous Work—A Strong Speech for Parnell by the Presiding Officer—O'Brien Makes a Few Remarks—Scenes and Incidents—British Press Views.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—So many delegates to the Irish convention have so far declined to get down off the fence, that it would be simply romancing to attempt to figure out the probable strength of the two factions (Egan and anti-Egan) when they meet upon the convention floor, but it is none the less certain that the prospects of the opposition have visibly improved and that even if they are not in a majority, the minority will be so respectable in point of numbers as to command attention to what it has to say. The delegations from Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New York have already taken such action as to put their position out of doubt, and the action was anti-Egan.

The sensation of Wednesday morning was the cable letter from Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., in which he declared among other things that the statements made by Finerty at Saturday's meeting in Ogden Grove "have shaken Gladstone's work more than anything the Tories and Unionists have said and done put together." No better supply of ammunition could have come into the possession of the Palmer house committee at a more opportune moment, and they used it for all it is worth among the uninstructed delegates from the south and west.

The convention was called to order at Central Music hall at 2 p. m., Wednesday, and Patrick Egan, president of the league, addressed the delegates, congratulating them on the progress the Irish cause had made since the last convention met. There never would be peace in Ireland without home rule, and English statesmen were learning that fact. He quoted the words of Gladstone that the banner of home rule would be borne with the firm hands of the united people, perhaps not to an easy, but to certain and not far-off victory. He said $820,000 had been forwarded from this country to the trustees of the parliamentary fund, $75,000 of which had gladdened Parnell's heart on the eve of the last election, and enabled him to win victories he could not otherwise have secured. He warned the delegates that the action of this convention would be watched across the Atlantic, and it was necessary that harmony should reign and aid and comfort be given to those engaged in the struggle. In conclusion he referred to one of the mottoes emblazoned on the walls of the hall—"We Are for Irish Liberty. Peaceably if We Can, Otherwise if We Must"—and said that was the true national position.

The various passages in the address were received with enthusiasm. The reference to Mr. Gladstone was responded to with cheers, again and again repeated, as was also the statement that $820,000 had been sent from this country in aid of the parliamentary party during the past year. Again when he declared that the motto on the walls—"Peaceably if We Can; Otherwise if We Must"—was the only true policy; the only one that England would respect, and the only one which could place the national cause where it belongs, cheers and counter cheers were renewed, and there were shouts and "yes" and "no." President Egan concluded amid applause, and a clergyman on the platform proposed three cheers for the three great heroes of modern times—Washington, Gladstone, and Parnell. The response was hearty. The official call for the convention having been read, together with several letters of apology for absence, and dispatches of sympathy from the Michigan Democratic state convention and elsewhere, the chair announced that in accordance with custom the executive committee recommended Hon. Judge Fitzgerald, of Cincinnati, as temporary chairman and John P. Sutton, of Nebraska; W. J. Elliott, of Columbus, and W. Fogarty, of Chicago, as temporary secretaries. Contrary to expectation there was no opposition to the selection, and Judge Fitzgerald received round after round of applause when he assumed the president's station.

When silence had been restored the temporary chairman began his speech in a strong, sonorous voice. He said that the dispatches in the American papers indicated great powers on the part of Salisbury, Churchill [loud hisses] and a vagabond set of Orangemen, who were ashamed of their country and their race, that this convention of Irish hearts and Irishmen would commit political suicide and disgrace. [Cries of "Never."] On the other hand, those that they loved in the old land were awaiting, trembling with fear and anxiety, for the action of the convention. In proportion as they smashed these hopes and dispelled these fears, in that proportion would he feel distinguished for the honor to which he had been assigned. Pointing to the table near him upon the platform from which the report of the United Press was being telegraphed he asked the convention to witness that as he spoke his words were being flashed from the Atlantic to the Pacific and under the ocean, and he begged of them that the words spoken during the progress of the convention be words of disappointment to the enemies of Ireland [great applause], and words of cheer and consolation for the people who, for seven centuries, had suffered unabated tyranny. They had come here, not to dictate to the leaders in the old country, but to follow them. [Cheers.] They were here with their hearts full of hope for the future. They could not forget the past; they would not if they could. [Prolonged applause.] That being the fact, they looked upon the future full of hope that the Irish people throughout the world would concentrate under the leadership of Parnell for relief. Having paid a tribute to Michael Davitt and the Irish parliamentary delegation, the speaker asked the convention to listen to their declaration of principles, and after they had spoken to record its simple, unqualified and eternal approval of what they had said. They had read in the public press of the probable terrible fight and disaster in the convention. [Laughter, and cries of "No, no."] Nothing would give greater pleasure to the enemies of the race than this. It had been mooted around in some dark corners that a resolution would be presented dictating a policy to those directly interested in the objects of the convention. There might be a mad-house not far from the hall [laughter], and there might be an escaped lunatic from that mad-house prowling around. But, lunatic or not, no matter who it might be, he was sure from the appearance of the men composing the convention that if such a creature dared show his brazen head and for one moment attempt to dictate to Parnell, the parliamentary party or to the people, or even suggest a policy, even the sergeant-at-arms would not be able to prevent the multitude before him from rising in its might and ejecting the crazy fool that proposed it. [Uproarious cheering.]

He would beg them that henceforth there be no division or dissensions, but that they allow the leaders of the home rule party the absolute control of their own affairs. He would pledge himself to Michael Davitt and the delegates from abroad that, after they had stated what was expected of their kindred on this side of the water, not one word, sentiment or echo should emanate from that convention, which would not be in full accord with what they desired. If any individual had any grievances to settle, let him settle them like a man. He implored them to sit down upon any attempt to create dissensions in that hall. [Cries of "Shut up," and confusion.] In conclusion the speaker made a strong plea for peace, forbearance and good will, and resumed his seat amid applause.

The sensation of the afternoon was next in store. Alexander Sullivan was recognized, and all eyes were turned upon the doughty Chicagoan. He moved a resolution directing the various delegations to select their representatives for the committees upon finance, credentials, resolutions and permanent organization, with the proviso that the members of the parliamentary delegation and Michael Davitt be placed upon the committee of resolutions. He said that the object of this was that the world might behold the spectacle of a perfect unity of Irish sentiment, and in order that there might not be a word in the resolutions which would give offense to their friends across the water.

For a moment the convention failed to appreciate the fact that the administration had by its own action disarmed the opposition of one of its strongest points, but when the fact dawned upon the audience the hall shook with cheers, and the resolution went through with a hurrah.

After some debate it was decided that the delegations proceed to select members of the committees, and the work was quietly done by all but the New Yorkers, who got into such an uproar that the balance of the convention demanded less noise, and the New Yorkers adjourned to the lobby, where the fight was continued until a secret session was ordered and the members were selected. The trouble was that John Dovoy insisted that Gen. Kerwin, having been appointed by President Egan and not elected regularly, was not entitled to a voice in the delegation. This matter was settled, however, the names of all the committeemen were announced to the convention, which then took recess.

It was half past 8 when the evening session was called to order. The committee on credentials failed to put in an appearance and it was reported that they were still in session with no prospect of their being able to report until late in the evening. A motion was made that the parliamentary delegation address the convention, but the chairman stated that they had been invited to a reception of the Irish-American club and begged to be excused. Armstrong, of Georgia, insisted, however, that they ought to say something, and Michael Davitt was introduced. The audience rose to its feet and cheered for several seconds. He thanked them for their greeting, but said he had nothing to add to what he had before said since his arrival in Chicago.

William O'Brien, editor of United Ireland, received an ovation. He said that the fight in Ireland was by no means over. There was a good deal of rough weather and work before them in Ireland yet. All he would ask that now as over the people of America remain at their backs in the fight and that they extend to Parnell, in the difficult and trying times before him, as large a measure of support as ever. The secret of the situation was that the powers that be knew that they were not now dealing with Ireland in fragments or sections, but with a united, indestructible Irish nation, bound together as one man under a leader with whom they were ready to march to the cannon's mouth. [Loud and long-continued applause, the audience rising to its feet and cheering vociferously.] Those cheers would ring across the ocean and tell them that Ireland was united as a man, and that when Parnell gave the word "forward," the whole Irish nation and press would take up the word and march like a grand and disciplined army—march over the ruins of landlordism and English domination in Ireland.

Mr. O'Brien concluded amid hearty applause. Loud calls were made for Mr. Redmond, but he declined to speak. The states were then called for members of the committees on finance, resolutions, etc., and the convention was about to adjourn when Father O'Brien, of Toledo, secured recognition. He said that many delegates had thought that it might be proper to send greetings to Gladstone and Parnell. The convention cheered the suggestion to the echo, and the motion to adjourn was laid upon the table by an overwhelming majority. Father O'Brien then submitted the following dispatches:

"WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE, HOUSE OF COMMONS, LONDON: The Irish National League of America, in convention assembled, send you greetings and wish you God speed in your noble and statesmanlike effort to grant long deferred justice to Ireland."

"CHARLES STEWART PARNELL, LONDON: The Irish National League of America, in convention assembled, send you greeting and promise you united support in your noble effort for home rule."

The demonstration which greeted the reading of these dispatches was the most pronounced of the day, the delegates cheering themselves hoarse. Silence had barely been restored when Alexander Sullivan was on his feet. In a heated manner he contended that under the rules of the Philadelphia convention which the convention had adopted pro tempore, the matter should go to the committee on resolutions. He, therefore, moved such reference to the committee, and protested against immediate consideration. Amid a storm of hisses, Mr. Sullivan took his seat. The Illinois delegation started a cheer, and for several seconds there was a succession of applause, hisses and groans. A delegate from Wisconsin moved the suspension of the rules for the purpose of adopting the messages, but he was antagonized on a point of order by an Iowa delegate, who was roundly hissed. It was evident that nine-tenths of the convention were with Father O'Brien, but the chair ruled in favor of Gannon's point of order, and was about to declare the dispatches referred to the committee on resolutions when Father O'Brien, interrupting, said that he would prefer to withdraw them, adding that he had not thought they would occasion any difference of opinion. The chair retorted that no such difference existed, but the convention hooted him by hisses, cheers and counter-cheers, and amid considerable confusion the motion to adjourn was adopted with numerous dissentients.

Accepting the Chicago Challenge.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Standard says: "England must now realize clearer than she has at any time hitherto that the home rule conspiracy is a foreign conspiracy. If the National league convention, now in progress in Chicago, will aid her to comprehend the situation, it will not have been without its uses. The programme of the 'moderates' in Chicago is 'Irish independence, peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must,' to which England replies: 'We will maintain the union under the same conditions.'"

American Citizens Insulted.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Aug. 19.—John Affleck, a prominent horse dealer, returned from Piedras, says that American citizens have been grossly insulted by Mexicans there. Affleck states that there is intense feeling against Americans by Mexicans along the border.

Dr. Douglas, Gen. Grant's Physician.

In a flying visit to New York the other day I saw Dr. Douglas, Gen. Grant's physician. The doctor has not fully recovered from the great physical and mental strain imposed upon him by his constant attention during the whole of the last nine months of Grant's life. The doctor's hands shake still as if they were palsied. But his general look is one of great gain. Several months ago a catarrhal trouble resulted in his stomach becoming poisoned with mucus that had been beyond the power of expectoration. He overcame the difficulty by introducing a rubber tube into his throat and the passage below. Through this tube he would pass warm water so as to cleanse out the alimentary canal and stomach before eating. By this process he has regained lost flesh, and to a degree his lost health.—Washington Letter.

A Slight Mistake in Reporting.

The Earl of Carnarvon at a banquet, in proposing the health of the clergy, said that "in these days clergymen were expected to have the wisdom and learning of a Jeremy Taylor." His lordship was next day reported to have said: "In these days clergymen were expected to have the wisdom and learning of a journeyman tailor."—The Argonaut.

THE END DRAWING NIGH.

Last Man Up in the Chicago Anarchist Trial.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Capt. Black closed his argument for the defense in the Anarchist case Wednesday. He asked would there have been any trouble if the police had not marched upon the Haymarket meeting, and concluded as follows:

"I am not here to defend Socialism, nor do I contend that anarchy has in it the elements of true reform; but I am here to defend these men. They are Socialists. That system centuries ago had the sanction of St. Augustine. John Stuart Mill is one of a great host of philosophers who have subscribed fealty to Socialism. These defendants have the right to discuss the great wrongs of the working people. They have the right to try their remedy. They say that private property is robbery. That may be false. There is not a catholic organization that is not founded on the idea of common co-operation. It was Plato's dream that the means of existence should be the common property of all."

Mr. Grinnell then commenced the closing argument for the prosecution. The facts in this case, he said, above all cases in his experience, were more eloquent and forcible for conviction than any words that man could utter. In this country, more than any where else, was anarchy possible! The strong governments of the old world strangled anarchy. It was the freedom that we enjoyed here that gave the Anarchist his opportunity. There was but one step from republicanism to anarchism. The jury were to say by their verdict whether that step should be taken. Mr. Grinnell had not half finished when court adjourned for the day.

BLOODY AFFAIR IN INDIANA.

A Hired Man Kills Two People and Then Shoots Himself.

PRINCETON, Ind., Aug. 19.—A short time ago Allen G. Stout, a farmer living in Wabash township, Gibson county, discharged a hired man named Charles Emmons. The latter, who was an ex-convict, vowed to get even, and Tuesday, meeting the farmer and his son Frank, aged 23, got into a quarrel with the latter. Before many words had passed, the ex-convict drew a revolver and shot the young man, who died almost instantly. The father grappled with the murderer, and was in turn set upon by Emmons and beaten in a terrible manner. Leaving the farmer lying insensible Emmons fled. Mr. Stout was found shortly after lying beside the dead body of his son. Both were carried home, and the father died Wednesday morning from the injuries he had sustained.

Meantime a party of neighbors had started in pursuit of the assassin with the avowed object of lynching him. At an early hour Wednesday morning the body of Emmons was found in a shanty some distance from the scene of his double crime. He had been shot through the heart, and it is certain that, in fear of the lynching party which he knew was pursuing him, he took his own life.

COL. BOLTON GOES TO JAIL.

He Grows Desperate Over Henrrest and Proposal to Increase His Bond.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Col. W. H. Bolton, late superintendent of second-class matter in the Chicago postoffice, was rearrested Wednesday afternoon and brought before Commissioner Hoyne, with a view to increasing his bond on account of his embezzlement footing up nearly $12,000 and daily increasing, as alleged by the inspectors.

During the hearing Col. Bolton made a display of temper, and said to United States District Attorney Ewing: "Make out your commitment and I'll go to jail. You have done everything you can to disgrace and persecute me, now do your worst."

The papers were made out, duly signed, and the marshal took Col. Bolton to jail.

The Ball Players.

The National league clubs made the following base ball scores Wednesday: At Detroit—St. Louis 7, Detroit 8; at Chicago—Kansas City 1, Chicago 7; at Washington City—New York 4, Washington 4—eight innings, darkness; at Philadelphia—Boston 7, Philadelphia 8. American association: At Pittsburg—Allegheny 6, Metropolitan 2; at Cincinnati—Louisville 4, Cincinnati 9; at Baltimore—Athletic 8, Baltimore 9—eight innings, darkness.

Boat on the Other Leg.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—News is brought by the steamer St. Paul from Ounalaska, Alaska, of the seizure in August by the United States revenue cutter Corwin, of the British schooners Thornton, Onward and Caroline, for violating the seal fishing laws in Behrings sea. The British consul here will investigate. The question at issue is whether Behrings sea is in the jurisdiction of the United States.

The President Goes Fishing.

PROSPECT HOUSE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—When the president arose Wednesday morning the thermometer stood at 60 degrees. After breakfast Mr. Cleveland went out and caught his first fish, a fine speckled trout, weighing three-quarters of a pound. Two hours later it was served at lunch. The weather is so cool that a log fire has been built in the cottage occupied by the presidential party.

MISCELLANEOUS.

From 115 to 161 Lbs.

To the Cuticura Remedies I Owe My Health, My Happiness, and My Life.

A day never passes that I do not thank and speak kindly of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Seven years ago, all of a dozen lumps formed on my neck, ranging in size from a cherry-stone to an orange. The large ones were frightful to look at, and painful to bear; people turned aside when they saw me, in disgust, and I was ashamed to be on the street or in society. Physicians and their treatment, and all medicines failed to do any good. In a moment of despair I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES—CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally; the small lumps (as I call them) gradually disappeared, and the large ones broke, in about two weeks, discharging large quantities of matter, leaving two slight scars in my neck to tell the story of my suffering. My weight then was one hundred and fifteen sickly pounds; my weight now is one hundred and sixty-one solid, healthy pounds, and my height is only five feet five inches. In my travels I realized the CUTICURA REMEDIES North, South, East and West. To CUTICURA REMEDIES I owe my Health, my Happiness, and my Life. A prominent New York druggist asked me the other day, "Do you still use the CUTICURA REMEDIES; you look to be in perfect health?" My reply was, "I do, and I shall always. I have never known the slightest return since I commenced using the CUTICURA REMEDIES." Sometimes I am laughed at by praising them to people not acquainted with their merits, but sooner or later they will come to their senses and believe the same as those who use them, as dozens have whom I have told. May the time come when there shall be a CUTICURA Supply House in every city in the world, for the benefit of humanity, where the CUTICURA REMEDIES shall be sold ONLY, so that there will be merely a need of ever entering a drug store.

Sneezing Catarrh

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headache—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous Relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by stoking colds, entire mucous membranes, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

After.

—We were b'est last Friday morning with a refreshing rain which did an immense amount of good and which is the first heavy and long continued shower we have had this summer. Corn, though somewhat injured by the hail of last week, has been greatly benefitted, grass has taken a new start and the fields are putting on their emerald hue again, presenting a great contrast to the parched and withered aspect of the past few months.

—Janesville at last is supplied with a street railway and street cars puss up and down her thoroughfares, giving the streets of the county seat a more business like air and metropolitan appearance than formerly. Speaking of street cars reminds us of the Madison street-railway over which we rode last fall from the business portion of the city to the fair grounds, and the car of which jumped the track twice before we arrived at our destination. The Madison company must have made considerable money during fair time last year, and we prophesy the same for the Janesville company next month.

—The Chicago & Northwestern company's yards at this place presented a scene of unusual activity last week, a large gang of laborers being at work raising both the main and the north sub tracks and gravelling the yards their entire length. This finished their work in this vicinity and they left Saturday morning for Evansville. The Madison division with its new steel rails, new ballast, etc., is now in splendid running order and the company may well feel proud of their remodeled short line to St. Paul, Minneapolis and the great northwest. While speaking about the Northwestern road, let us remind the public of the three great harvest excursions to Minnesota and Dakota to be run by this road, one going on Wednesday of this week and the other two September 8 and 22 respectively. These excursions are for the purpose of showing the people what the crops amount to and as the rates are the lowest ever offered to those points, it behooves those who wish to get a glimpse of this great "agricultural wonderland" to avail themselves of the opportunity now offered.

—The Rock County Agricultural society has done a wise thing in securing the presence and services at their coming exhibition of our able and eloquent United States senator, Colonel John C. Spooner. Since the Blaine & Logan campaign of 1884 Colonel Spooner has enjoyed the reputation of being one of the foremost orators of the Badger state, and since he was elected to the United States senate has achieved a national reputation for oratorical powers second to that of none. Wisconsin may well feel proud of her gifted and honored senator, and now that the people of Rock county have another chance to hear him, the opportunity should be improved. He speaks at the grounds of the Agricultural society, Thursday, September 10th at 1:30 p. m.

—We see that the State fair people are agitating the idea of having a military day during the coming exhibition at Cold Spring Park, Milwaukee, which we think would be just the right thing to do, and we are glad the Rock County Agricultural society is to have a soldiers' day, which although it is the last day of the fair, yet it may be the best. Last year's G. A. R. day was a success, and we predict the same for the exhibition next month. In speaking of the fair we are reminded that fair week will soon be here, and those who intend exhibiting should have everything in readiness by that time. Every farmer in the county should take an interest in the fair, and by their presence aid in making it a success.

—The funeral services of little Ernest, the eleven-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Eddy, of Janesville, who died Saturday about noon, of that fatal disease, cholera infantum, was held in the Baptist church in this place Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and was well attended by sympathizing friends of the bereaved parents. The services were conducted by Rev. A. Gibbs, of Beloit, who has been supplying the Afton church in the absence of the pastor, Rev. L. L. Lansing.

—The Afton school closes the summer term next Friday, and there will be exercises at the school house as is usually the custom on the last day. The school has been under the supervision of Miss Kittie Inman, of Janesville, who has given unbounded satisfaction, and who will retire with the good wishes of both the scholars and the community in general.

—A few personals noted down during the week might be of enough interest to mention here ere we close: Mr. Emmett E. Burdick, town clerk of Janesville, and an artist and etcher of no mean talent, was in town last week, visiting friends, and having a general good time.

—Mrs. A. B. Waterman has added much to the appearance of her dwelling by having the north wing raised, reshingled, and new siding put on, Messrs. T. R. Taylor and W. H. Gilbert doing the work. We also hear that improvements have been made on the residence of our town clerk, Mr. A. C. Powers. Let the good work go on.

—Messrs. E. C. Burdick and E. T. Taylor, two of our Bower City neighbors, and both formerly residents of Afton, were in town for a short time Monday evening, having a few business matters to attend to. Both gentlemen looked hale and hearty, as if Janesville life agreed with them.

—Seeing that we started out with a short paragraph relating to last Friday's storm, we might as well close by saying that a very heavy thunder storm passed over here, Sunday night, and the earth was copiously washed and refreshed. Reports from further west say that quite a heavy wind prevailed there, some corn being blown over, and that the rain-fall was very great

A FRIGHTFUL PLUNGE.

SAD ACCIDENT ON A VERMONT NARROW-GAUGE RAILWAY.

The Train Jumps Into the River Sixty Feet Below—Two Killed and a Number Wounded—Four Victims of a Dakota Storm—A German Building Kills Eight Workmen—Other Disasters.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Aug. 19.—A frightful railroad accident occurred Wednesday night on the Narrow Gauge railroad near this place, in which two persons were killed and seven seriously injured. While a mixed train was crossing the bridge at the mouth of the West river, the bridge gave way, and the entire train, consisting of six flat, two box, one passenger and one baggage car, was precipitated into the river, sixty feet below.

The engineer was caught underneath the engine in fifteen feet of water and killed. J. J. Green, station agent at New Fane, was injured internally and has since died. E. M. Butler, station agent at Wardsboro, received severe spinal injuries and his recovery is doubtful. A. H. Ashton, station agent at West Dummerston, had his right leg badly fractured; J. B. Worthen, conductor, arm injured; Michael O'Connor, brakeman, leg broken and head cut; Mrs. Hildreth, Hinsdale, N. H., two ribs broken; her husband was cut about the head.

The body of Engineer H. A. Smith can not be recovered until the wreck is cleared away. Ned Prentiss, the fireman, escaped uninjured. He went down with the engine, but succeeded in crawling through the cab window after the engine was submerged.

A DAKOTA STORM'S WORK.

Four Persons Killed and a Town Wrecked.

FARGO, D. T., Aug. 19.—Persons just returned from Newark give the details of the the wreck caused there by the storm Sunday night. The town is on an extension of the Milwaukee road, not yet built, near the south line of Sargent county. At 6 p. m. the place had fifteen buildings, and half an hour later but three. The most prominent destroyed were Swain's two-story hotel, Fletcher Brothers' general store, The Times printing office, and a small mill and school house. Four persons were killed:

Mortimore Kennedy, part owner of the town and a brother of Judge Kennedy, of the New York supreme court; Mrs. Edward Waite, living four miles south; Mrs. John Oak and infant. Several other persons were seriously injured. There were twenty buildings entirely destroyed in the village and vicinity. Little damage was done to the crops.

An Oil Train Burns.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 19.—At 2:35 a. m. Wednesday an oil train, while descending a grade on the New Jersey Central railroad, below Whitehouse Station, N. J., parted by the breaking of a coupling, and a few minutes later the separated parts collided. The concussion exploded one of the tanks, igniting the oil. Other tanks exploded in quick succession until 100,000 gallons of oil were on fire. A few of the cars were drawn away by the engine, but the heat became so great that nothing could be done to save the rest. Both tracks were twisted out of shape, and trains arriving on both sides were detained several hours. Passengers were transferred until 8:30, when the west track was cleared. The loss will probably reach $50,000.

Elemental Havoc in Illinois.

CENTRALIA, Ills., Aug. 19.—This city and vicinity was visited Wednesday morning, between 3 and 4 o'clock by one of the heaviest wind, hail, and rain storms that has occurred for years. The rain fell in torrents through a belt of country two miles in width and many miles in length east and west. The storm gathered the fury of a cyclone, and houses and barns were wrecked in its path. Haystacks, growing corn, and orchards laden with winter apples were leveled to the earth, entailing a loss to the farmers that can not be estimated.

Blaine Has a Narrow Escape.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 19.—As Hon. James G. Blaine was driving Wednesday under one of the arches erected for the tournament, the arch fell and a heavy bar struck across the carriage just in front of Mr. Blaine. W. E. Richardson seized the horse's bridle and held it till Mr. Blaine could be rescued. It was a narrow escape.

Destruction of Cranberry Bogs.

CRANBERRY CENTRE, Wis, Aug. 19.—During the last two weeks over 10,000 acres of cranberry marsh and timber land have been burned in Juneau county. The fires are in check now, but not entirely out. Two small districts two miles square is all the cranberry land left in this county.

Fatal Collapse of a House.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—A house in process of construction at Carlsruhe collapsed Wednesday and was completely wrecked. Eight workmen were killed and their bodies buried under the debris, and several others were severely injured.

Loot of the Civil War To Be Restored.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 19.—The chief of the division of abandoned property has prepared rules to govern the restoration of certain property captured by the army during the civil war and deposited in the treasury department. The property consists of silverware, jewelry, portraits, watches, etc. It is contained in two boxes, one being devoted to articles captured by Gen. Sherman's troops in Camden, S. C., in 1865, and the other containing articles taken from prisoners of war who died in hospitals around Washington, Cape Lookout, and Elmira, and from Union soldiers who died near those places. An inventory of the articles has been made and they will be restored upon the presentation of satisfactory evidence of ownership.

Knights Templar Triennial Conclave.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Preparations for the great triennial conclave of Knights Templar, which is to be held here next month, are rapidly approaching completion, and will be as complete and satisfactory as it is possible to make them. Nothing will be overlooked that will contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. The vice chairman of the general committee reports that he already has positive advices that 30,000 Knights Templar, accompanied by 20,000 members of their families, will be here, and that fully 100,000 other persons will be present to witness and share in the great demonstration.

Races at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—At the trotting meeting at the Driving-park, Wednesday, the 2-year old stakes were won by Brown, Dora being the only competitor; best time 2:47½. The 2:25 trot was won by Libbie S., Mary Sprague second; best time, 2:21. The third race, 2:33 class, was unfinished, Opal winning the two first heats in 2:26½, 2:27¾. McCune won the third heat in 2:25¾, and Bessie the fourth in 2:26¾. The 2:20 pace was also unfinished. Jenny Lind took first heat in 2:23½, Rowdy Boy second.

The Splendor of Dress and the artificial effects of cosmetics, no matter how deftly applied, can never make beautiful or attractive one who is subject to emaciation, nervous debility or any form of female weakness. These must be reached by inward application, and not by outward attempts at concealment, and the ladies may take hope from the fact that thousands of their sisters have made themselves more radiant and beautiful by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" than they could ever hope to do by the aid of the appliances of the toilet.

Hay Fever.

I have been a great sufferer from hay fever for 15 years, and have tried various things without doing any good. I read of the many wondrous cures of Ely's Cream Balm, and thought I would try once more. In fifteen minutes after one application I was wonderfully helped. Two weeks ago I commenced using it, and now I feel entirely cured. It is the greatest discovery ever known or heard of.—Duhamel Clark, Farmor, Lee, Mass.

ENDYMION.

How slowly falls yon sickle from on high
Through evening's silent sky,
Flashing a splendor from its curved blade
On the low-lying shade!

Now in and out the narrow cloud that bars
Its pathway from the stars
It slips, and with a golden glory shines,
Nearing the mountain lines.

Nay, 'tis no sickle which some unseen hand
Lets fall upon the land;
It is the jewel of a lady's crown,
As she steps lightly down.

Night after night, down the aerial stair
She steadeth unaware;
Leaving the empire which she ruleth above,
And all her state, for love.

Behold, her feet have touched the rocky steeps
Where the young shepherd sleeps,
And larger burns her jewel as she moves
In search of him she loves.

And now it fades, and glimmers, and is gone.
Happy Endymion!
While here the world in sudden shadow lies,
She bends above his eyes.

Cure of a Tramp's Hands.

"One of the essential points of success in my profession," said a dilapidated old tramp who was talking to a reporter from behind the bars of one of the cells in the city jail this morning, "is to keep the hands in good order. You don't understand what I mean, eh? What I mean by keeping the hands in good order is this: Of course, in tramping from town to town, a man is liable to be arrested for vagrancy at any time. He must tell a story of how he has just been thrown out of work and is looking for employment, which, as yet, he has not been able to find. In nine cases out of ten the judge will ask him to show up his hands, and when he does produce them they must be horny and toilworn. Catch on, do you?

"So you see it is part of my business to keep my hands looking as though they belonged to a man who was accustomed to work 365 days in the year. For that purpose I carry with me this small piece of hickory wood, which is round and very smooth. About twice a day I take it between my palms and rub them so that the friction will make them hard and callous. In that way, you see, I produce the 'real result' with very little trouble and annoyance. There is a bottle of brown liquid which I use occasionally for staining the back part of my hands a beautiful sunbrown color, and there you are. When I show up my hands and tell the judge that I am a hard working man, thrown out of employment by the strikes, what can he do but believe me? The trick has saved me many a day in jail, and I flatter myself it is a strictly original idea, though it is spreading rapidly. The profession, you see, is beginning to realize that it will never do to show up to a hard-hearted police judge a pair of tender, lily-white hands."—Omaha Bee.

An End to Bone Scraping.

Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill. says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucklen's Arnica Salve at 25 cents per box by F. Shorer & Co.

A QUESTION ABOUT

Brown's Iron Bitters

ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the statement that there is no preparation of iron (but of any other substance used in medicine. This alone conclusively proves Iron to be acknowledged to be the most important substance in modern medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Rheumatism and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not cure in a minute, like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken up goes the first symptom of benefit, is improved energy. The muscles soon become firmer, the digestion improved, the bowels are active. In short the whole system is newly vitalized and invigorated. The eyes begin to clear, the cheeks to fill, skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant nourishment is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and druggists recommend it.

—The great Barnum and London show this evening at the fair ground.

—There are quite a number of people in the city to-day, seeing the elephant.

—Janesville chapter No. 5, Royal Arch Masons, assemble in regular semi-monthly convocation this evening at Masonic hall.

—Tickets for the Barnum show are on sale at Palmer & Stevens' drug store, corner of Main and East Milwaukee streets.

—There is talk among the members of the Angleworm club of forming a deer hunting party to go north some time next month.

—Marshal Hogan and Deputy Sheriff Acheson, brought up the rear of the circus procession this morning with the patrol wagon.

—A runaway on Milwaukee street this morning resulted in the wrecking of a light wagon. No other damage of any importance was done.

—The extra driving with the patrol wagon was too much for one horse to-day, and Marshal Hogan secured a span of light greys to do the tramping with, giving his own horse a rest.

—The premium list of the first annual fair and exposition of the Central Wisconsin, to be held at Stevens Point, September 7-10th, is being distributed. The premiums are quite numerous and very liberal.

—Last night the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nash of the fifth ward was visited by the messenger of death, their ten year old son being taken from them. The funeral will be held from St. Patrick's church to-morrow morning.

—One man whose name we suppress on account of his size is said to have prepared for the circus by falling head first down a sixteen foot well and sticking so far into the soft sand bottom that his friends had to tie a rope to his feet and pull him out by main strength.

—A prohibition convention was held at the court house to-day, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the coming election. J. C. Plumb was chosen as a delegate for the assembly, and a committee for the Third assembly district was elected, the members being: R. M. Benson, S. C. Burdick and E. G. Pound.

—As a cattle rack full of boys and men was being driven in from the country this morning, the horses ran away going at full speed down Main street. Those in the wagon hung on as long as they found it convenient and then selecting a soft spot rolled off into the gutter. The horses were stopped before any damage was done.

—A dancing party was given last evening at Pope's Springs, it being in honor of Miss Bernice Cannon, of Helena, Montana, who is visiting in the city, a guest of Miss Julia Cannon, of the first ward. The party numbered about fifty. The trip to the grounds was made by steamer and several hours were very pleasantly spent, the Arion orchestra furnishing the music.

—Some of the first ward citizens think that there is now no need of building an artificial reservoir for the water works as the natural one near the passenger depote seems to have ample capacity for all present needs. They forget that the location is wrong. It might be a good idea for the common council to have it taken where it would be of some use, for there seems to be no pressing need of such a feature in its present location.

—The residents of the town of Harmony are impressed with the notion that some of the sporting men who infest that part of the county are blessed with an excellent education. In several instances the signs on the fences have been changed. One is made to read "No hunsing aloud," and another by the changing of a letter is made to reflect on the moral character of the honest granger. A vigilance committee has been organized for the protection of signs, and a wagon load of inanimate hunters is liable to be brought in from that locality almost any day. Boys beware how you mutilate the signs.

—The cane men on the corn exchange square to-day did a rushing business. They made money hand over hand, but once in a while they caught what might be called a Tartar. At one of the stands a fresh looking granger had just captured three sticks, and the proprietor proposed to give him five rings for his plunder. The granger took up the offer immediately and in a short space of time had five handsome canes under his arm. As he walked off the ring manipulator watched him in disgust and offered to bet a bystander twenty five cents "that his nobs had been there before" The spare time of that particular granger had evidently been put in behind the barn throwing rings at a whipstock.

Personal.

—Mrs. John McArthur and daughter, of Chicago, are guests of Mrs. Orion Sutherland, of the second ward.

—Mr. Sam. H. Coon, city editor of the Oleon Daily Times, Oleon, New York, was a welcome caller at the Gazette office this afternoon.

—Mrs. Adelaide Conger and her daughter Miss Lucy Conger, are now travelling through Canada. After spending considerable time in the Dominion, they expect to visit New York and other eastern cities, probably remaining during the winter.

—Mr. Morris H. Warner, the gentlemanly press agent with the Barnum and London show, was a pleasant caller at the Gazette office this morning. We are under many obligations to Mr. Warner for courtesies extended, on behalf of the management of the great show, during the performance this afternoon.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 58 degrees above zero. Clear with east wind. At one o'clock p m. the register was 91 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with southeast wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 61 and 83 degrees above zero.

SNEAK THIEVES AT WORK.

They Empty the Money Drawer at Norcross & Doty's Mill—Other Visitations.

Heeding the warnings that have been given, nearly everyone left somebody to take care of their houses to-day and it is probably due to this that so few thefts were committed. The sneak thieves found an entrance in one or two cases, however, though the harvest reaped was small. At Norcross & Doty's mill, when the men went out to see the procession, they they left everything carefully locked. When they went back they opened the doors and went to work again, but they failed to keep watch on the office. Someone walked in, opened the money drawer with a cold chisel and took out twelve dollars in change, all that had been left outside of the safe.

In the first ward two houses were entered. One was that of Mr. John Richardson, on River street, but there the marauders secured nothing. They broke the panels out of two doors but seemed to have been frightened away by the dog inside. They then to a door that opened into a hall and making their way upstairs looked through all the bureaus but did not take anything of value. At Mr. John Shortney's house on the same street, they entered, overhauled a dressing case and took a gold chain and three dollars in money. Some jewelry lying in another drawer was not touched.

In the second ward a visit was made to the home of O. F. Nowlan. The dining room door was burst open and nearly every room in the house was ransacked. Mr. Nowlan's papers were all overhauled, a trunk full of bed clothes was emptied and the bureau drawers were searched but nothing of importance is believed to have been taken.

Col. J. B. LaGrange's house was another of those that were entered. Here considerable clothing was taken, but the silverware that lay in a drawer down stairs was overlooked.

The general belief is that most of the work was done by home talent. This has proven to be the case in other cities where Barnum has exhibited recently, and all the indications go to show that Janesville was no exception. There were a number of outside crooks here however, but they were mostly "shell men" or pickpockets. The officers ran across a party of four who were giving grangers a chance to bet that they could tell what shell the bean was under and after a short chase around the Central school building two were arrested. When taken to the jail a large roll of bills and a "bull dog" revolver was found on one of them. The two who escaped, started down the Afton branch of the Northwestern road. They were pursued by several city officers and the detective who travels with the show, but have not yet been captured.

Except for these only one man was arrested during the day, he being taken in on suspicion. At the circus grounds there was very little disturbance and the officers stationed there made no arrests. Fortunately people all over town took care to keep their valuables out of the way and to this is due the fact that so little plunder was secured by the sneak thieves.

Something New at Last.

The renowned Lake district of England has spoken to her in gifted language which they have translated to mankind with rare beauty and faithfulness. But even Wordsworth, from whom nature withheld few secrets, did not dream that secret and perfect harmonies lay hidden in the mute stones upon the mountain side. This revelation was reserved for Mr. Daniel Till. The melodious tunes drawn by him from stones, instinct with music will form a delightful feature of the entertainment which the officers of the Girls' Social Club will give at Lappins hall September 6. The public will be informed from day to day of the rare and novel pleasure in store for them.

Whisky in Canned Corn.

[From the Chicago Herald.]

"See that man going into the bank there?" said a voracious citizen one day last week over on Dearborn street; "well he's rich and getting richer. He's got as nice a little business as there is in this town—one that makes handsome profits every day in the year."

"What business is he in?"

"He cans corn for the Iowa market and sells dead loads of it too. This may surprise you, that Chicago should sell corn to the great corn state of Iowa, but it's a fact. The corn is packed in Kentucky whisky, and the flavor of the liquor isn't hurt a bit by the mixing. As for the corn, I couldn't say whether it is improved or not. This is straight goods—not the 'canned corn,' but the story."

I offer for sale, the best livery stable in southern Wisconsin, with all the appointments of a first class livery business. Well sell the barn and real estate with the stock and business, on very favorable terms, or will sell the stock and furnishings, and rent the barn for a term of years. The business is a prosperous and paying one, and the owner can give good reasons for making the change. It is a grand opening for a live man. For terms, call or address

SCENES AT THE CIRCUS.

What there is of Interest Outside as Well as Inside.

Barnum's Farewell Appearance in Janesville a Great Success.

At Least 12,000 People Attended the Exhibition this Afternoon.

Items from the Tents.

There is a growing suspicion that the biggest part of the amusement end of a circus may be seen outside of the canvas. This is more or less true, according to the nature of the sight seer; but nevertheless there certainly is much of interest to be seen before the band commences to play and the ringmaster announces the opening of the performance.

There is something about the arrival of a show that always draws a crowd and this morning as the Barnum and London Aggregation pulled in from Freeport, there was an appreciative audience on every hand.

When a circus train rolls into a town the cars containing the performers are side-tracked, but the flats carrying the property wagons and cages are got into position for immediate removal. A long pair of skids are placed at each end of the line of flats and the spaces between the cars are bridged by smaller pairs. In loading, the material is so arranged that the first thing needed will be the first to come off. The wagons being towed along the top of the cars, are taken down the incline with the brakes down, where a team or two, are in readiness to be hitched to the wagon, when it is whisked off to the grounds. During this part of the programme the "razor-backs," as the train men are called, are obliged to hustle, but they have an easy time when the others are at work.

WAKING UP.

While this is going on, there begin to be signs of life on the cars occupied by the ordinary actors, side show freaks, candy butchers and others. They set about to get themselves ready for the day, and are soon as busy as the others.

The spectacle of the great fabric of spars and canvas going up in the course of an hour or two is something worth witnessing. After the preliminary measuring a man steps around and indicates where stakes are to be driven, by planting little wires tufted with red. Immediately in his wake comes a man with a stake, and with him a group of drivers, who range themselves about it, each commencing a regular swing with a big iron maul. They follow each other with blows so closely that it almost looks as though a continuous stream of iron were striking the stake, which is sent into the ground with a steady motion, as if from an even pressure, and not a succession of blows. It takes forty five seconds to drive a stake and to accomplish that would wind an ordinary man. While one is puzzling himself how the tent is going to be put up, the great expanse of canvas which has been unrolled on the ground commences to rise in the center, and flattens out as the guy ropes are made fast to the outside stakes. The roof is further braced by wall poles, which have previously been laid under the canvas. Then the walls go up, and the tent assumes a recognizable shape.

THE STREET PARADE.

The parade did not take place until 9:30, an hour and a half after the advertised time. The streets and public buildings along the line of march were thronged with people. It was one of the finest circus parades ever witnessed in Janesville; in fact nothing, excepting the previous visits of Barnum has ever equaled it. It was well arranged and contained many special features which were shown to the best advantage. There was a long line of gorgeous chariots and vans, bands of music, etc., among the more important features being the following: Band wagon drawn by eight horses, twenty knights on horseback, open cage of lions, open cage of tigers, open cage of panthers, open cage of leopards, open cage of sea-lions, polar bear in cage, four cages of other animals, chime chariot, six Arabs on horseback, followed by two cages and two chariots, band wagon drawn by six horses, six horsemen, five cages, pipe organ, four camels, two chariots drawn by four camels, seven cages, twelve elephants, five cages, band wagon, chariot, two chariots drawn by six ponies each, chariot drawn by four ponies, chariot containing clown drawn by one pony.

The procession moved from the fair grounds down Milwaukee avenue to East street, on East street to Court, down Court to Main, Main to Milwaukee, over the bridge and up Milwaukee street, returning on the same street, and passing up East Milwaukee street to the mammoth tents on the fair grounds.

THE PERFORMANCE.

On arriving on the grounds after the parade, preparations were immediately commenced for the afternoon performance. The tents cover acres of ground, the main one being the largest ever spread here.

The menagerie was even finer than in former years, an aggregation of splendid specimens of lions, tigers, panthers, leopards, hyenas, bears of all descriptions, sacred cattle, herds of elephants and camels, sea lions, hippotamus, rhinoceros, and other interesting animals being shown. They were in excellent condition. Jumbo's skeleton and preserved hide were objects of interest to all. The immense hide is stretched over a wooden frame, made according to an exact likeness of the body of Jumbo when alive. The skeleton looked almost as large as the frame work of a good sized house, and was finely articulated at every joint. Among the natural curiosities to please the little ones, are a baby elephant; and lion, leopard, and panther whelps, the leopards being only two days old.

The audience tent is of oblong construction, containing two rings and a stage, is 457 feet in length, 230 feet wide. Taken altogether, this Barnum and London combined show is without dispute the greatest show on earth.

THIS AFTERNOON.

Fully 12,000 people must have witnessed the performance this afternoon, which began at two o'clock and lasted two hours. To pick out any one feature of the circus and say of it, "this is better than the rest," would be a difficult thing to do. But to say that all were more than excellent would be the truth in a mild form. All the actors were stars in their particular acts. They were in good form for the performance and they did their acts in superior form. Barnum has always been noted for his galaxy of actors and actresses, and this year he seemes to have surpassed even himself in presenting to the public the talent of the world. In this show one is given a short trip into nearly all the countries of the world. Madam Adelaide Cardona, the queen of equestriennes, performed some wonderful feats of bareback riding, and Miss Viola Rivers is second only to her in that part of the show performance. The reproduction of the ancient gladitorial feats and statuesque posturing was bountiful and instructive. The trick pig and monkey rider elicited much enthusiasm from the audience and was a novel and entertaining act. It would be inexcusable in us not to mention the performances of the Juliana and of Lolo, Sylvester and Lola. Miss Julian, a young California lady, stands alone in her great contortion acts, being the only lady contortionist known. Lolo Sylvester Lola in their triple act almost seem like aerial animals of a new sort: The little Lolo flies without wings from one to the other of the remaining two as fearlessly as if she were going out for a walk. The Arabians are a wonderful lot of acrobats, and carry their priest with them, he being one of the performers. The entire performance gave the greatest satisfaction.

The last performance will be given at 8 o'clock this evening, when the large pavilions will again be crowded. The show goes from here to Madison, thence to Watertown, Oshkosh and Green Bay.

La Crosse Republican: Mr. James McKinley, the famous prohibitionist of West Salem, has begun picking his thirty-five acres of splendid hops. He will have employed fully one hundred and fifty pickers and the work will last not far from two weeks. We would not be surprised to see Mr. McKinley as opulent as a brewer this fall.

The remains of the man found in Johnson's woods on the Beloit road, eight miles from Milwaukee, were taken to the morgue Tuesday, and identified by Wm. Wachleberg, a farmer, as those of Peter J. Baum, who had, a month ago been employed on a farm for three days. He had been heard to say he would commit suicide.

The list of employes of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine company, of Racine, includes the names of over 1,000 men and the sum of the monthly pay-roll is generally over $35,000. About 10,000 tons of iron are consumed yearly. About 5,000,000 feet of lumber, 600,000 feet of belting and 800 agencies are figured that attest the magnitude of these works.

The scene from the Northwestern train between Fort Howard and Oconto is a desolate one. A week or so since the land was thickly wooded up to the line of the railroad. Now there is not a living tree left standing. Last Monday the flames swept down through this country, licking up the brush and dead trees and killing the live ones which were too green to burn.

Over 3,000,000 feet of lumber were started in rafts from the Chippewa mills Tuesday morning on the artificial flood from dams which were closed since Saturday night. An unusually large cut of logs is predicted during the approaching winter by reason of the devastation of fires, which has charred much of the timber to such an extent that to allow it to remain standing will, in a comparatively short time, render it valueless.

Seven switchmen employed in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad yard at La Crosse, quit work Saturday, on account of an increase of duties, which they thought they would be unable to attend to. Their places were filled by men from other parts of the yards. The new duties were that they were to report all damaged cars that come into the yard and all that go out of the yard, and also to see that a car switched to any point had a man on board.

An enthusiastic railroad meeting was held at Monroe last night. Speeches were made by J. B. Treat, A. S. Douglas, T. H. Eaton, P. J. Clawson, H. Durst and others. As no tax can be collected from the towns, citizens are pledging themselves individually by a conditional vote of one per cent of the valuation of property. Nearly enough is already pledged. A committee of prominent citizens has been appointed to make a thorough canvass. The company asks only the right of way. It is thought the money can be raised in one or two days. There is only one sentiment in favor of the bonus, about $30,000 for this town.

The samples of grain brought into market at Antigo, by farmers, is evidence that that is a fine grain producing country. Notwithstanding the unfavorableness of the season for the proper maturity of cereals, the grain crop in Langlade county is good as to quantity and No. 1 as to quality. Samples seen this week show a thrifty growth of straw and the largest and most perfect berry of wheat that is possible to be produced. Oats are remarkably strong and well filled. Barley superior. Of course the continued drouth has affected the growth of nearly all the crops throughout the state, but the least in this part of Wisconsin according to the best information yet obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. Mequire, of Hay Creek, Eau Claire county, had a narrow escape from death in the recent forest fires. Finding themselves cut off by flames, they soaked their blankets in the creek, wrapped them around their heads, and in this manner darted through the fire and smoke. The water of the creek in which they soaked their blankets was so hot that it scalded their faces. They reached Eau Claire in a deplorable condition. Nothing but the few clothes they had on were saved from the fire. They were a day and a night on the tramp and without anything to eat, and all the water they had to drink was either scalding hot or else tasted of smoke and ashes.

Secretary A. O. Wright, of the Board of Charities and Reform, says that Dr. Buckmaster, of the State hospital, has abolished the system of mechanical restraints used with violent patients for years past. The cribs and beds have been remodeled into ordinary beds and the other apparatus has been stored. To effect this four more attendants have been employed. For some time past this was contemplated by Dr. Buckmaster, and it was partially practiced, but two weeks ago it was resolved to give the system of non-restraint full sway. Thus far the results have been encouraging and the patients seem to cause the attendants no more trouble than formerly. This system has been in vogue in Ohio, Alabama, and Maryland for some time and with good results. Chemical restraint or that caused by opiates, has been abandoned for some time in the State hospital.

Sunday morning two brothers, Horstmann, aged 18 and 21 years of age, respectively, of McFarland, went out shooting. They visited a place where underbrush prevailed. By and by they parted. The oldest of the brothers after a time, thought he saw game of some sort moving about in a thicket some distance from him; he fired, and to his awful surprise, he soon discovered that he had poured a charge of shot into the face of his brother. Aid was at once obtained, and a messenger was dispatched to Madison for Dr. Bodenius. The doctor answered the call at once, to find a very bad wound. Several shots had entered the left eye which completely destroyed its sight; and the balance of the charge had penetrated the forehead and face. The sufferer was brought to Madison Monday morning, and taken to the Catholic hospital where he receives attention from Drs. Bodenius and Jonas. The wounded eye was skillfully removed Monday afternoon by the doctors. The removal of the shot by the use of instruments was also performed. The case is a painful one.
